Itinerary Details

1

Your Scottish sporting adventure begins with a mid afternoon collection from downtown Edinburgh, transporting you to the beautiful Logiealmond Estate. Settle in before enjoying a welcome dinner prepared by our private chef, Peter. Evening activities include gun selection and a comprehensive safety briefing, setting the stage for an exceptional week of shooting.

2

After a traditional full Scottish breakfast, step out the front door onto the Logiealmond Estate for an exciting 250-bird day. This is a warm up day and will quickly get you into the rhythm for the week. Return home for a hearty dinner, sharing stories of the day's most memorable shots.

3

Gleneagles Estate offers a spectacular driven partridge and pheasant day, promising 250 challenging birds across magnificent moorlands. Non-shooting spouses can enjoy local sightseeing with Sleepy Sporrans Tours. Reunite for dinner exchanging the day's adventures.

4

A day of leisure for the group is on tap! This may include: a unique tour of John Dickson and Son, Scotland's oldest gun maker, shop at The House of Bruar, enjoy a Scotch tasting, or we can arrange additional activities like stag stalking or river fishing. Another delightful dinner with Chef Peter awaits.

5

Return to Logiealmond Estate's upper drives, offering elevated, challenging high birds that will push your shooting prowess. The estate's diverse landscape provides a spectacular backdrop for an unforgettable day of sport, concluded with an exceptional dinner!

6

Discover the 7,000-acre Lindores Estate, with a mixed bag day featuring duck, pheasant, partridge, and potentially woodcock. Diverse terrain and challenging drives will test your shooting skills. Non-shooting spouses can choose spa relaxation or field participation. A farewell dinner featuring the week's harvested game will be a fitting way to end the week!

7

An early departure to Edinburgh Airport concludes your Scottish sporting adventure, carrying memories of exceptional shooting, friendship and true Scottish hospitality.
